

KEN MCBRIDE

EXECUTIVE PARTNER

Something caught fire in Ken when he first joined a management team. Ken had been an associate attorney in a law firm and a city attorney, but nothing had captured his imagination like being part of the leadership of a company.

Ken McBride is an experienced executive leader with a career spanning more than four decades. Ken successfully acquired and led a company, growing it to more than four times its original size before its sale. He later held leadership roles with the largest title company in the United States, Fidelity National Financial. During his leadership, Fidelity recognized his organization as being among the top performers nationally for five consecutive years. Ken's organization maintained the top local market share for 16 years.

Throughout his career, Ken has emphasized continuous learning, accountability, and the development of high-performing teams as the foundation of sustainable success. Ken has observed that his success depended on the success of those around him.

Family has always been an important part of Ken's life. At a crossroads time in Ken's career, when he did not know which way to turn, his mentor told him that he knew which path Ken would take. He said that I would be doing what was necessary to take care of my family, and he was right.

In addition to his professional leadership, Ken has been actively involved in civic, nonprofit, and church service. He has served on the Norman School Board and on the boards of multiple professional and community organizations, reflecting a long-standing commitment to governance, leadership, and community engagement. Ken is a past president of the Oklahoma Land Title Association and a past Chairman of Leadership Oklahoma.
