

STACIA GLAVAS

EXECUTIVE PARTNER

Stacia Glavas is a seasoned nonprofit and business entrepreneur; her professional journey has been marked by a diverse skill set, including leadership, strategic planning, business ethics, marketing, finance, operations, and human resource development. Glavas grew up on a wheat and cattle farm in NW, Oklahoma, while working in her family's John Deere dealerships, learning business from an early age. As the Founder and CEO of New Life Mission in Melbourne, FL (2008-2022), she responded to a divine calling, establishing a nonprofit dedicated to serving homeless women and children in a residential setting. Under her leadership, the organization provided a comprehensive range of life-changing resources and successfully raised $12.4 million of private dollars utilizing strategic fundraising initiatives to expand the program to four campuses.

Prior to this, she served as the Executive Pastor at Georgianna United Methodist Church, providing leadership and overseeing organizational functions. Her dynamic professional background also includes founding Maid Brigade Services in Alexandria, VA, in 1989, transforming it into the top-ranked franchise nationally, and cleaning over 800 houses a week in the DC region. Before that, she served as an International Trade Consultant and Legislative Aide in Washington, DC, gaining valuable insights into legislative processes. She earned her education at George Washington University (MBA), Asbury Theological Seminary (M.Div.), and Oklahoma State University (B.S.), where she earned top honors.

Between her professional endeavors, she embarked on a transformative family sabbatical from 2001 to 2003, sailing along the East Coast and the Bahamas with her three young daughters, embracing a unique "boat-schooling" adventure. Her personal interests are diverse, spanning from community advocacy to a love for music, theater, sailing, and traveling (30 countries and counting). Now that she is back in Oklahoma, she can be found cheering on the OKC Thunder and OSU Cowboys and mentoring others to think outside the box!
